1928 Newspaper Article:

Pinelawn Cometery House Burned.

The large granite structure ewaed by the Pinelawn Cemetery Corporation was destroyed by fire Widnesday night, entailing a loss of $300, 000.

When the first fire engines arrived at Pinelawn, the flames were creeping from under the floor in the cast wing to the roof and spreading through the main wing of the building. The entire interior of the pince was of wood. Only the granite walls are standing.

Mrs. L. M. Locke, caretaker, with her helper, Louis Natalle, lived in the west wing, and when firemen attempted to take her from the place, she refused to leave until her furniture, valuable antiques, was taken out. The smoke made this impossible, and she was finally persuaded to leave.

Grass had been burned about the grounds carly in the afternoon and it is thought that a spark may have lodged in the wooden beams of the house.

Apparatus from East Farming dale, Lindenhursi, Farmingdale and Huntington Station responded to the call, but because of the complete lack of water their efforts were use loss.

Fire Chief John Britton, of the East Farmingdale Company, said that if the engines could have arrived together, and the contents of the chemical tanks thrown on the fire at one time the building might have been saved.

When first built 25 years ago, the structure cost $135,000, and the represent value today is estimated at about $360,000. When first built it was used as a mil road station, as well as a funeral centre. Is is located on the north side of the mais line of the Long island Ruiroad, The milroad has since built a smaller depoi on the south side of the tracks.

Mrs. Locke is the widow of the founder of the remutery.

(Babylon Signal of 03/18/1882.) ANTICIPATED TROUBLE WITH THE TOWN IN RELOCATION OF THE QUOGUE DEPOT
LED TO THIS ACCOUNT OF EVENTS OF
THE MOVE THAT APPEARED IN THE
MAY 27, 1882 ISSUE OF THE "BABYLON SIGNAL":

-Boss Carpenter Joseph H. Cummin, of the Long Island Railroad, is as shrewd and sharp as they make 'em, and doesn't "get left" on moving depot buildings any more than he does on a Jumbo narrative. Recently he was instructed to remove the Quogue station a short distance east of the old site. Every preparation had been made by the people of Quogue to prevent the removal of their depot, and were in readiness to serve an injunction upon Mr. Cummin restraining him from proceeding with the work, should he select a weekday for the task. If, on the other hand, the labor should be prosecuted on a Sabbath, officials were to appear on hand with authority to arrest the "gang" on the charge of violating the Sunday laws. Mr. Cummin gave the matter consideration and quickly devised a means out of the difficulty. On Saturday evening a portion of the force was sent to Bay Shore, and early on Sunday morning a special train conveyed the men to Quogue, reinforcements joining the company at Patchogue. Engineer Colligan, pursuant to instructions, made the run in short order, entering the silent precincts of sleepy Quogue early and quietly, without sounding the whistle or bell. In a remarkably short time the depot was placed upon the flat and transported to the new site, and the freight house shared identical fate. The work was attended with so much quiet that the deed was accomplished before the Quogue people had fairly aroused from their peaceful slumbers. The circumstance is highly creditable to the sagacity of Mr. Cummin, and proves him equal to every emergency. The people of Quogue, however, will probably love him no more forever.

FIRE AT WESTHAMPTON STATION - 1986

Here is an account that Fred Allen, retired LIRR ticket agent sent:

If I remember right, the fire in '86 was caused by someone (homeless?, vandal?) starting a fire with newspapers outside the ticket office windows. It did extensive damage; the apartment upstairs (whose tenants were Anne Mahon, who worked in the print shop, and her sister) was gutted, as was the ticket office. Richie Hilsenbeck was the agent at the time.

The railroad decided to make the repairs to the first floor (ticket office and waiting room), but not the apartment. The office was closed for 4 or 5 months during the reconstruction. Richie ended up with a sweet job, as he just traveled around the East End until the work was done!

The biggest benefit was the bathroom for the agent, which was now inside the ticket office! Prior to the fire we had to walk out of the office and all the way to the bathroom in the waiting room!

WILDFIRE AT WESTHAMPTON STATION - 08/24/1995

Here is an account that Dave Morrison, retired LIRR branch manager, recollects of the fire:

I was sent to the Westhampton station during the wildfire that night to see if I could get the tickets and tour book out of the station building because it was anticipated that the building might be lost in the fire. I tried contacting the Agent, who had the keys, but was unable to do so.

When I got to the building, I could see the fire approaching from the north. With the help of the LIRR police, we entered the waiting room, through a window that we broke. We broke the door to get into the ticket office and, with the help of the police, I carried the locked ticket case to the truck, along with the tour book. The money was in a locked safe and I did not have the combination, so that safe was left untouched.

When I left the building, numerous railroad ties were on fire in front of the building and there was a spot of fire on the roof. I remember calling my boss on the cell phone and telling him, "we ain't gonna see this building in the morning." Maybe it was my words that gave the impression that the building was lost in the fire LOL.

Anyway, I went to the station the next day and the building was okay. A house and several vehicles were burned up nearby, as we'll as lots of woods, but the volunteer fire department saved the station building.

I got a $500.00 bonus and a nice letter from the LIRR Police Dept for my auctions that evening. When the ticket case was audited, one subway token was all that was missing. The auditor didn't even report that.

The NY Times could have easily contacted the 24/7 Public Affairs number and confirmed the status of the station building. I guess that they chose "fake news" instead. (The New York Times reported on 08/25/95 that the station building was destroyed in the fire. D. Keller)

Here is an account that Thomas Collins, ex-chief of the Eastport Fire Department recollects:

As the Sunrise Wildfires started in the Eastport Fire District, near the Suffolk County Community College, Eastern Campus (also known as the Riverhead Campus), I was at home when my fire department got notified of the fire.

I responded to the fire house, and myself and a probationary firefighter took the first engine, and responded to south of the starting point, about a 6 minute ride. We attempted to knock the fire down; we had an fire hose and 1000 gallons of water, but had to back up at least 2 times, to avoid being overtaken by the fire. The fire went across Speonk-Riverhead Road, like there was no road there.

Later in the afternoon, we were dispatched to the Westhampton train station, to make a stand there. As there was no available water supply in the area, we dumped our 1000 gallons of water, along with other fire departments, and stopped the fire along the tracks. Embers were blowing around, and one caught one of the old N. B. Rogers lumber buildings. We managed to knock the fire down with a couple of fire extinguishers. It was a long few days!
